This document relates to:

Ashton et.al. v. Qaeda Islamic Army, et. al., 02 cv-6977 (GBD)(SN)

Schneider, et. al. Islamic Republic of Iran, 02 cv-7209 (GBD)(SN)

Schneider Plaintiff's Motion for Final Judgments against the Taliban and Muhammad Omar

For the reasons set forth below, and the statements contained in the Declaration of Meryl I. Schwartz, Esq. ("Schwartz Declaration"), and the record in this case, the plaintiffs in the above captioned matters who are represented by Broder & Reiter and listed the exhibits to the Schwartz Declaration (Schneider Plaintiffs)¹ respectfully move for an Order for final damages judgments in connection with the losses and injuries they suffered as a result of the deaths of the decedents in the September 11, 2001 Terrorist Attacks set forth in the exhibits, in light of the default liability judgment they previously obtained against, among others, the Taliban and the founder and former leader of the Islamic Emirate of Afghanistan Emir Muhammad Omar (hereinafter "Taliban and Omar Defendants"), specifically:

1. Awarding each estate of the individuals killed in the September 11 Terrorist Attacks listed in Exhibit A ("Schneider decedents") damages for conscious pain and suffering against the Taliban and Omar Defendants in the amounts of $2,000,000 per decedent, which is the same amount this court previously awarded to them;

2. Awarding each estate representative listed in Exhibit B who are named as such in the original and consolidated amended complaints and are also the immediate family members of a Schneider decedent, solatium damages in the same amounts that this court has previously awarded to those family members;
3. Awarding the immediate family members of the Schneider decedents listed in exhibit B, whose 9/11 decedents were named in the original and consolidated amended complaints, solatium damages in same amounts this court has previously awarded to those immediate family members;
4. Awarding these Schneider plaintiffs pre-judgment interest at the rate of 4.96 percent per annum, compounded annually for the period from September 11, 2001, until the date of the judgment for damages;
5. Granting the Schneider plaintiffs permission to seek punitive damages and other appropriate damages at a later date; and
6. Granting permission for all other Schneider plaintiffs in this action not appearing on the exhibits to the Schwartz Declaration to submit applications for damages awards in later stages to the extent such awards have not been previously addressed.

As the awards set forth in the proposed order represent the only direct recovery by the Schneider plaintiffs against the Taliban and Omar Defendants, the proposed order would constitute final awards and judgments against the Taliban and Omar Defendants for the Schneider Plaintiffs.

I. Procedural Background

On September 10, 2002, the Schneider Plaintiffs filed their first complaint against the alleged sponsors of the September 11, 2001 terrorist attacks which included claims against defendants al Qaeda Islamic Army, the Taliban, and Muhammad Omar, among others. See 02-cv-7209. (S.D.N.Y.) ECF 1.² As referenced above in footnote 1, that complaint, and a subsequent complaint, were consolidated and made a part of the action referred to in this litigation as Ashton

² References to MDL docket entries found at 03-md-1570 (S.D.N.Y.) are noted only by ECF number; references to individual civil case docket entries are preceded by the case number.

v. al Qaeda et. al. which has been amended multiple times. See, e.g., 02-cv-6977 (S.D.N.Y.) ECF 2, 11, 32, 38, 111, 465.³

In their complaints, the Schneider Plaintiffs asserted federal jurisdiction against the Taliban and Omar Defendants pursuant to, among other things, the Alien Tort Statute (28 U.S.C. § 1350) (“ATS”), the Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act (28 U.S.C. § 1605(a)(7)) (“FSIA”) and the Torture Victim Protection Act (28 U.S.C. § 1350 note) (“TVPA”), and made claims for damages against those defendants under those provisions as well as under the Anti-Terrorism Act (18 U.S.C. § 2333) and state law for the deaths, injuries and losses suffered in the Sept. 11 Terrorist Attacks. See, e.g., 02-cv-6977, ECF 465 at ¶¶ 2-3, 10-12, 464-466, 469-70, 473-74, 477-78, 481-82, 486-89.

This Court issued an order authorizing service of process by publication on certain defendants, including the Taliban and Omar Defendants. ECF 445 at 1, 8, 11. The Schneider Plaintiffs, and others, served the Taliban and Omar Defendants by publication with verification of publication filed on March 16, 2005 and March 31, 2005. ECF 709, 735.⁴ The Taliban and Omar Defendants never answered, and the Schneider Plaintiffs, as part of the Ashton action,

⁴ The publication notices directed the named defendants to the MDL docket and advised them in both English and Arabic that they were required to answer the complaints on that docket, which sought, among other things, compensatory, treble, and punitive damages within 60 days. ECF 709 at2; 735 at 2. The jurisdictional and factual allegations against the Taliban and Omar defendants as set forth in the operative complaint at the time of service did not change in the subsequent amendments. Compare 02-cv-6977 (S.D.N.Y.)(Ashton Consolidated Master Complaint, Filed 03/06/2003), ECF 11 at ¶ 2, 10-12, 112-114, 178-179, 600, 602-603, 605-606, 608-609, 610-612, 615-619 with 02-cv-0297 (S.D.N.Y.)(Sixth Amended Complaint, Filed 09/03/2005) ECF 465 at ¶¶ 2, 10-12, 78-79, 123-125, 464-466, 469-470, 473-474, 477-478, 481-482.

thereafter moved for a Certificate of Default and a default judgment, which this Court granted on May 12, 2006. ECF 1782 et seq., 1797 (referring to the defendants listed in Exhibit B to the Ashton Plaintiffs motion, including the Taliban and Omar Defendants).⁵

Previously, in connection with their claims against defendant Islamic Republic of Iran (“Iran”), another defendant in the complaints naming the Taliban and Omar Defendants, this Court granted the Schneider Plaintiffs, as part of the Ashton action, a default liability judgment. ECF 3021. Thereafter, in an order in connection with the damages assertions set forth in the Schneider complaints, this Court issued final damages judgments against Iran, granting the Schneider Plaintiffs’ motions for:

Compensatory damages for the conscious pain and suffering of the Schneider 9/11 Decedents; and Solatium damages for the immediate family members (and their functional equivalents) of the Schneider 9/11 Decedents.

The Schneider Plaintiffs listed in the Exhibit to the Schwartz Declaration now move this Court to grant the proposed Order awarding them damages for, as noted on those exhibits, conscious pain and suffering and solatium losses arising out of the deaths of those individuals killed in the Sept. 11 Terrorist Attacks in the same amounts as awarded previously as against defaulting defendant Iran and directing that pre-judgment interest be assessed at 4.96 percent per annum.

The Schneider Plaintiffs listed in the Exhibits to the Schwartz Declaration now move this Court to grant the proposed Order awarding them damages for, as noted on those exhibits, conscious pain and suffering and solatium losses arising out of the deaths of those individuals killed in the Sept. 11 Terrorist Attacks in the same amounts as awarded previously as against defaulting defendant Iran and directing that pre-judgment interest be assessed at 4.96 percent per annum.

The Schneider Plaintiffs estates listed in Exhibit A are asserting damages for pain and suffering.

Exhibits A and B asserting damages claims for the estates of the Schneider 9/11 Decedents killed in the Sept. 11 Terrorist Attacks; Exhibit B asserting claims for solatium damages of those immediate family members listed by name as personal representatives of the Schneider 9/11 Decedents' estates no later than the Sixth Amended Complaint, which was the operative pleading at the time this Court issued a liability judgment against the Taliban and Omar Defendants, and who were also added to the docket via Notice of Amendment against defendants Iran and Sudan; and

The Schneider Plaintiffs also ask for permission to continue to submit applications in subsequent stages on behalf of those claimants not included in the attached exhibits, should any other applications be warranted.

II. Damages

The Schneider Plaintiffs claimed damages, as relevant here, pursuant to the ATA's civil damages provision, the TVPA, the FSIA (if the Taliban are determined to be the governing body for the nation state of Afghanistan) and state law. 02-cv-6977 (S.D.N.Y.), ECF 465 at 235-240.

According to the case law governing terrorism litigation, the "estates of those who [died] can recover economic losses stemming from wrongful death of the decedent; family members can recover solatium for their emotional injury; and all plaintiffs can recover punitive damages." Valore v. Islamic Republic of Iran, 700 F. Supp. 2d 52, 83 (D.D.C. 2010) (concerning damages under FSIA); Ests. of Ungar ex rel. Strachman v. Palestinian Auth., 304 F. Supp. 2d 232, 267 (D.R.I. 2004) (finding that under ATA plaintiffs can recover "both pecuniary damages ... and also for non-economic damages, including loss of companionship, society, and mental anguish experienced by the victim's surviving family members, including his siblings ..."); see also Miller v. Arab Bank, PLC, 372 F. Supp. 3d 33, 41 (E.D.N.Y. 2019) (ruling that plaintiffs were entitled to solatium damages under the ATA); Lelchook v. Commerzbank AG, 2011 WL 4087448, at *2 (S.D.N.Y. Aug. 2, 2011) (allowing plaintiffs to pursue claims for solatium damages is consistent with Congress’s incorporation of traditional tort-law principles, under which such damages are available, into the ATA); Smith ex rel. Smith v. Islamic Emirate of Afghanistan, 262 F. Supp. 2d 217, 240 (S.D.N.Y. 2003) (while punitive damages are not available under ATA, its civil action provision “provides for treble damages”).

Though a claim under the FSIA is available only to a “claimant or . . . victim [who] was . . . a national of the United States; a member of the armed forces; or otherwise an employee of the Government of the United States, or of an individual performing a contract awarded by the United States Government, acting within the scope of the employee’s employment,” under the Alien Tort Statute, which was another source of jurisdiction the Schneider Plaintiffs asserted, district courts have authority to hear claims brought against non-sovereign defendants by both U.S. nationals and non-U.S. nationals. See 28 U.S.C. § 1350. Further, the ATA (for U.S. nationals) and state law remedies (for U.S. nationals and non-U.S. nationals) also provide remedies against a non-sovereign defendant for those killed or injured in an attack in the U.S.

A. Conscious Pain and Suffering

Plaintiffs identified in Exhibit A are all estates of Schneider 9/11 Decedents, who experienced agonizing suffering prior to their deaths in the September 11, 2001 terrorist attacks. Schwartz Decl. at ¶ 7. This Court has previously assessed claims for the extraordinary conscious pain and suffering experienced by those who lost their lives on September 11, 2001, including for those 9/11 Decedents identified on Exhibit A. ECF No. 2618 at 7 – 9. The Schwartz Plaintiffs now respectfully request that this Court grant the Schwartz 9/11 Decedents whose estates are set forth in Exhibit A, a total compensatory damages judgment that reflects the previously awarded $2,000,000 for each 9/11 Decedent. That total final damages amount for each Schneider 9/11 Decedent is listed in Exhibit A.

B. Solatium Damages

“Acts of terrorism are by their very definition extreme and outrageous and intended to cause the highest degree of emotional distress.” Belkin v. Islamic Republic of Iran, 667 F. Supp. 2d 8, 22. Reflecting the nature of terrorist attacks, which are intended to cause emotional damages to those closest to the physically injured party, family members of the decedents may recover for “the mental anguish, bereavement, and grief that those with a close relationship to the decedent experience as a result of the decedent’s death, as well as the harm caused by the loss of decedent’s society and comfort.” Dammarell v. Islamic Republic of Iran, 281 F. Supp. 2d 105, 196 (D.D.C. 2003) (solatium damages available under FSIA), vacated on other grounds, 404 F. Supp. 2d 261 (D.D.C. 2005); Ungar, 304 F. Supp. 2d at 264–65 (fullest range of damages should be available to plaintiffs in terrorism litigation, including “all the weapons available in civil litigation”); Lelchook, 2011 WL 4087448, at *2 (plaintiffs may “pursue claims for solatium [emotional] damages’ under the ATA”) (brackets in original); Henkin v. Kuveyt Turk Katilim Bankasi, 495 F. Supp. 3d 144, 152 (EDNY 2020) (“[c]ourts permit “[p]laintiffs to pursue claims for solatium [emotional] damages” under the ATA.”) citing Lelchook, 2011 WL 4087448, at *2.

To this end, “[s]pouses and relative[s] in direct lineal relationships are presumed to suffer damages for mental anguish. Knox v. Palestine Liberation Org., 442 F. Supp. 2d 62, 78 (S.D.N.Y. 2006); Morris, 415 F. Supp. 2d 1323, 1337 (D.Utah 2006) (holding that “victim’s family may recover under § 2333 for the victim’s lost wages and pain and suffering, and for the victim’s wife and children’s loss of companionship, society, and guidance, and mental anguish); Ungar, 304 F. Supp. 2d at 267 (holding plaintiffs entitled under § 2333 to economic and noneconomic damages, including loss of companionship and society, and mental anguish experienced by the victim's surviving family members).

Solatium claims have been treated as comparable to claims for intentional infliction of emotional distress, in which the immediate family members of the decedent are treated as direct victims. See, e.g., Salazar v. Islamic Republic of Iran, 370 F. Supp. 2d 105, 115 n.12 (D.D.C. 2005) (“[c]ourts have uniformly held that a terrorist attack—by its nature—is directed not only at the victims but also at the victims’ families.”); Surette v. Islamic Republic of Iran, 231 F. Supp. 2d 260, 267 n.5 (D.D.C. 2002) (treating solatium claim as “‘indistinguishable’ from the claim of intentional infliction of emotional distress.”) (quoting Wagner v. Islamic Republic of Iran, 172 F. Supp. 2d 128, 135 n.11 (D.D.C. 2001)). Thus, this Court has previously awarded solatium damages to “immediate family members” – that is, the spouse, children, parents, and siblings of those killed in the September 11, 2001 Terrorist Attacks (or their functional equivalents), ECF 3363 – who, though not physically present at the site of the terrorist attacks, were nevertheless intended victims of the terrorist activities. See e.g., ECF 3341, 3387, 3399, 3402, 3403, 3408, and 5701. The four established categories of family relationships – spouses, children, parents, and siblings – do not require any additional showing of the nature of the underlying relationship.

To fashion a solatium award adequately compensating the surviving family members in the litigation when issuing solatium damages as against defendant Iran, this Court looked to the analysis undertaken by District Court Judge Royce Lambert in the Heiser case. 466 F. Supp. 2d 229. There, Judge Lamberth concluded that solatium damages should be awarded to each spouse of a deceased victim in the amount of $8 million, to each parent in the amount of $5 million, and to each sibling in the amount of $2.5 million. Id.

Recognizing that the immediate family members of those killed in the September 11 terrorist attacks suffered and continue to suffer “profound agony and grief and, “[w]orse yet, ... are faced with frequent reminders of the events of that day,” ECF 2618 at 10 – 12, this Court adopted the following solatium damages framework:

Relationship to Decedent	Solatium Award
Spouse	$12,500,000
Parent	8,500,000
Child	8,500,000
Sibling	4,250,000

The losses claimed in this motion are identical to those that this Court ordered in connection with the final judgment against Iran. The amount of solatium damages previously adopted in the judgments against Iran should apply equally to the Taliban and Omar Defendants.

The relationships between the decedent and the Schneider Plaintiffs are set forth in Exhibit B accompanying the Schwartz Declaration. The Schneider Plaintiffs have direct relationships previously recognized as being presumptively qualified for solatium damages; the relationships between the Schneider Plaintiffs and the immediate family members killed in the September 11, 2001 terrorist attacks have been verified; the Schneider Plaintiffs survived the death of their immediate family members on September 11, 2001; the Schneider Plaintiffs do not have another known claim pending before this Court for compensation against the Taliban or Omar Defendants; the Schneider Plaintiffs have not recovered against the Taliban or Omar Defendants; the Schneider Plaintiffs have not come close to satisfying their judgments against Iran, and this Court previously granted solatium damages in the amounts sought here. Schwartz Decl.

The Schneider Plaintiffs in Exhibit B are individuals who were identified by name as the estate representatives of Schneider 9/11 Decedents no later than the filing of the Sixth Amended Complaint, which expressly identified claims for solatium damages; are also immediate family members of Schneider 9/11 Decedents;¹ and were added in that capacity via Notice of Amendment as to defendants Iran and Sudan. Schwartz Decl. at ¶ 11. The Schneider Plaintiffs in Exhibit B are all additional immediate family members of Schneider 9/11 Decedents on the Sixth Amended Complaint, which asserted claims for all survivors of the Schneider 9/11 Decedents, and which expressly identified claims for solatium damages; were not included by name in that pleading; and have now been added via Notice of Amendment as to defendants Iran and Sudan. Schwartz Decl. at ¶ 11.

The Schneider Plaintiffs therefore respectfully request that this Court issue a final judgment ordering payment of solatium damages to the Schneider Plaintiffs listed in Exhibits B in the amounts set forth in that exhibit.

C. Punitive Damages

While Schneider Plaintiffs are also entitled to punitive damages, in light of prior differing decisions on the proper punitive multiplier, (compare, e.g., ECF No. 2623 at 5, ECF No. 3175 at 3, ECF No. 3229 at 1, ECF No. 3300 at 1 with ECF No. 3363 at 28, 3384 at 6, and ECF No. 3387 at 1) the Schneider Plaintiffs request permission to address the issue of punitive damages at a later date as this Court has previously allowed ECF No. 3666.

D. Prejudgment Interest

On the issue of prejudgment interest, a December 28, 2015 Report and Recommendation adopted by this Court, concluded that to the extent the Schneider wrongful death plaintiffs' claims arose out of injuries in New York State, the rate of prejudgment interest was 9 percent per annum from September 11, 2001, until the date the judgment was entered, and to the extent the injuries arose elsewhere, 4.96 percent interest per annum compounded annually was appropriate. ECF No. 3175 at 1 – 2. Subsequently, however, this Court concluded that the rate of prejudgment interest of 4.96 percent was more appropriate. ECF No. 3384 at 6. Accordingly, the Schneider Plaintiffs asks that this Court direct that prejudgment interest of 4.96 percent per annum on their awards running from September 11, 2001, until the date of judgment, as was done previously in this consolidated litigation.

III. Conclusion

For all of the reasons herein, as well as those set forth in the previous submissions, the Schneider Plaintiffs respectfully request that this Court grant the proposed order:

1. Awarding each estate of the individuals killed in the September 11 Terrorist Attacks listed in Exhibit A damages for conscious pain and suffering against the Taliban and Omar Defendants in the amount of $2,000,000 per decedent, which is the same amount this Court previously awarded to them;

2. Awarding the immediate family members of the Schneider 9/11 Decedents in Exhibit B, who are also named in the complaints as the representatives of the estates of the Schneider 9/11 Decedents, solatium damages in the same amounts that this Court has previously awarded to them;

4. Awarding the immediate family members (and the functional equivalents) of Schneider 9/11 Decedents listed in Exhibit B solatium damages in the same amounts that this Court has previously awarded to them;

5. Awarding these plaintiffs pre-judgment interest at the rate of 4.96 percent per annum, compounded annually for the period from September 11, 2001, until the date of the judgment for damages; and

6. Granting the Schneider Plaintiffs permission to seek punitive damages, and other appropriate damages at a later date.
